

DANIYELLA

7 Years

3 ,o clock in the morning and I'm lying in our bed all alone
Soon the day is dawning and I still don't know what I've done wrong

7 years have come and gone
7 years that just belonged to me and you

It's half an hour later and I'm wondering if you're o.k.
I'm trying not to hate her ,cause it's you who makes me feel this pain

When did you stop loving me?
And why was I too blind to see – or wasn't I?

Interlude

I thought that we just had it all
I thought that we could never fall apart

The sun is almost rising – God, this house has never felt so sad
And through the tears I'm trying to see another day ahead

7 years have come and gone
7 years have just begun to fade away

3 ,o clock in the morning and I'm lying in our bed all alone
Soon the day is dawning and I still don't know what I've done wrong