

DANIYELLA

YOU MAKE ME SHINE

In a picture in a frame there's a couple old 'n frail
And the lines upon their faces tell a lovely fairytale
In the way he holds her hands in the love inside her glance
I see countless tender moments of a beautiful romance

And here and now I know we're gonna have it all
All those little things that matter in the end

'Cause you make me shine, you read my mind
You make a moment last forever
I taste bliss within your kiss
You put a smile inside my heart
And I feel it all comes down to just one thing I always knew
I wanna make these memories with you

Dancin' barefoot in the snow, whisper pledges in the cold
And in the face of all he stars above the world stands still below
Lying backwards in the grass, watching clouds and see them pass
Building castles in the sky and live the dream to make them last

And here and now I know we're gonna have it all
All those little things that matter in the end

CHORUS
